BUTLER, Pa., March 23.—Victim of a gunshot wound in his chest, Wilbur R. Kennedy, 45, chief of police here for three years, today was fighting for his life in the hospital here.Kennedy was found wounded last night in the bedroom of his home, his revolver at his side. Hospital officials said he was unconscious and the bullet touched his heart.He had previously been ill for some time and only recently returned from a Cleveland hospital.Captain Anthony Graham, of the Butler police, said Chief Kennedy may have accidentally shot himself while cleaning his gun.Kennedy is married and has three children.PA NEW OBSERVESPa New cannot remember when the early flowers have bloomed as early as this year. This morning, one of the Pa New family picked the first daffodils from his flower garden. Hyacinths, tulips and other blooms are also well along.According to folks who use North Mercer street, the dividing line between the city and Neshaunk township, in the northern section of the city report that the street is in bad condition. Firemen who answered a call to that district recently, said they thought they were on Billy Glen's old gorge ride.An attractive coating of green paint has been applied to the fence surrounding the lawn about St.
Mary's church, corner of North Beaver and North streets.Pa New saw a sign in a window on East North street on Tuesday which read: "A Shut In. Please Do Not Park In Front Of Window". The motorists who were parked in that district at that time had evidently heeded this notice, as a reasonable space between two cars was left in front of the window.To illustrate the contrast in weather two years ago, John Rung tells Pa New this true story. On the 23rd of March, 1936, a New Wilmington physician was summoned to Lakewood and in the race to beat the clock to Joseph Rung home, his car was stuck in a snow drift on the Highland Heights-East Brook road.
He had to turn back and make the trip via New Castle. Little Joseph Gerald Rung is two years old today.Just as a News man was coming along West Washington street, beyond Smithfield, yesterday, he saw a cross fire burning back of one of the house lots. Soon after a dozen brooms were being vigorously wielded in beating out the flames, among them was police officer Guilmore Smith, who was off duty, but happened to live nearby.
During the fire fighting, a lady ran out of a house with a pan of water, and in her excitement threw a large portion of it on one of the "broom wielders," which certainly brought forth loud protestations from him.
The fire department truck soon arrived and put the "finishing touches" on the fire.This Pa New was amused by the sight of some young boys playing yesterday, in a tent made of a blue and white plaid blanket, tied between two trees. It really seemed like summer.Richfield avenue, since being improved, has apparently been adopted as a general play-ground and skating rink combined. Kiddies from all over the East side are having races on their skates, ball games are

Like wildfire the cry for outright repeal of the undistributed profits of blocking the revolt in the fi-among Democratic senators to "stand by the President". The revenue act of 1938 still has many hurdles to jump before it becomes

Many Arrests Made In Austria

Royalty Chief 'Purge' Target

Nazis Report Some 1742 Arrests Made In Past Ten Days

NOBLEMEN JAILED IN COMMON PRISON

VIENNA, March 23.—Another member of Austrian royalty ran afoul of Vienna's regime today as the royal and noble families of this German province became chief targets of the Nazi government's "purge."

Archduke Joseph Ferdinand was reported taken into "protective custody" because of allegedly insulting remarks regarding the national Socialist party which officials said, "provoked great indignation among the population."

Also under arrest were Duke Maximilian and Duke Ernst of Hohenberg, sons of the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, whose assassination at Sarajevo in 1914 precipitated the World War.

Arrest 1742

Nazi authorities announced 1742 persons including royal scions and aristocrats have been arrested during the past 10 days.

Dukes Maximilian and Ernst, along with seven other noblemen, were jailed in a detention prison housing ordinary criminals, virtually all the top leaders of the Austrian monarchist movement to restore Archduke Otto of Hapsburg to the throne were deprived of their liberty.

Reports that Archduke Anton, cousin of Archduke Otto, pretender to the Austrian throne, had been arrested were officially denied, however, Anton was said to be enjoying his freedom at his Sonnenberg Castle home. His wife, Princess Ileana, sister of King Carol of Rumania, is at Mirano, Italy.

In Custody

Seventy-three-year-old Prince Maximilian Exon Fürstenberg, a close friend of former Kaiser Wilhelm, is in protective custody. Baron Weisner, former representative of Otto, also is under arrest, as is Baron Weckmann, former secretary of the late Emperor Karl.

Other noted Austrians now in jail include the former minister to France and Spain, Alois Vollgruber, Prof. Heinrich Neumann, noted ear specialist who frequently treated the Duke of Windsor, was arrested and charged with "trying to smuggle" about $130,000 across the border.

The Nazi announcement said the arrests were carried out for "political and criminal causes" and claimed many persons asked for "protective custody."

It was asserted those who asked to be held will be released "as soon as the situation warrants."

conservation with Hall, did not divulge the substance of his talk with the Mexican president, whose expatriation decree affected 17 American and British oil concerns.

Release Americans.

Following Daniels' representations the Mexican foreign office rushed two labor leaders by plane to Tampico, where they brought about the release of Borrego, an American citizen and assistant general manager of the Standard-owned Huasteca Petroleum company. Two Mexican cronies of the concern also were released.

The three men had been held by oil workers who claimed the concern owed them wages. The workers had insisted Borrego and the two Mexicans should be held as hostages until the alleged wages were paid.

Daniels called on Cardenas after four American oil companies, whose properties were among those expropriated, asked Washington for diplomatic intervention.

The American ambassador even refused to say whether his remarks to the president could be called representations. He said:

"I conveyed the views of Secretary of State Hull about the oil situation. I just went to talk with the president. There was nothing in writing. I do not feel at liberty to say what I said during the conversation, or what the president said."

"The president expressed himself as friendly toward the United States and all democratic countries."

Later Daniels reported to Hull on his talk with Cardenas.

ROOSEVELT'S TAX POLICIES FACING CONGRESS REVOLT

gain secret sessions to consider amendments to the House-passed bill. First to be decided is whether it will reopen its public hearings to receive testimony on a proposed revenue bill for about $12,000,000 in revenue through what he terms a tariff equalization tax on processors of major farm products.

This revenue is desired by the farm bloc for distribution to farmers who co-operate in the general crop control program, but Chairman Pat Harrison contends the bill should be considered separately and originate in the House. Committee sentiment appeared to be backing away from the Leflore proposal to lower exemptions on personal incomes of married persons from $2,500 to $2,000 and single persons from $1,000 to $800.

Such a change would yield $11,000,000 additional revenue. A clash between the administration and tax reform forces is in the offing. Harrison takes the view that relief for business from oppressive taxes would stimulate business and result in larger revenue.

Administration leaders, fighting against repeal of the undistributed profits tax and toward revision of the capital gains levy, were decimating the bill provide for $5,330,000,000 in revenue. According to their estimates this would allow for no net reduction in the general tax burden.

PA NEW OBSERVES

In progress, marble games and other outdoor sports seemingly are more enjoyed on the smooth level surface. However, autoists have to be doubly cautious. They make their way thru the crowd of young ones, by tooting their horn almost the full length of the street.

Owen P. Fox, the city forester, mourned a News must that the number of blue birds, blue jays and cardinals that have been around here already this year, is larger than usual. This is National Wild Life Week, and all lovers of trees and wild life are doing their part in bringing back to our woods the wild creatures.

The drowning hum of an airplane motor caused many New Castleites to turn their eyes skyward Tuesday evening at about 9:30 o'clock. The lights of a ship headed in the direction of Pittsburgh, were seen. The plane did not change its course one bit and it was impossible to see the type of ship.

In a small creek near here, Pa. News saw two men, in their bare feet, wading a car, which had been driven into the creek bed. Passing the place a little later, he found another car undergoing the same treatment.

In a telephone conversation early this morning, Frank Condi, Hillville informed Pa. News that sportsmen of that district are counting the days until the start of the hunting season. A huge deer, which is seen quite frequently prancing happily in the vicinity of a quarry, is the reason.

JAMES K. LOVE MAKES PROTEST AGAINST TARIFF REDUCTIONS

labor $62.30; materials, supplies and repairs, $14.50; executive salaries, $4.00; selling expenses, $9.67; taxes, $3.88; depreciation, $3.88; total, $97.79. This, he pointed out, left only $2.21 for stockholders. He said he regarded the record of his company as typical of other pottery companies.

Labor Will Suffer

The New Castle man argued that from these figures it is obvious labor will necessarily suffer if tariffs are reduced to a point where it becomes necessary for American pottery manufacturers to take gradual cuts in prices in an effort to meet foreign competition. He pointed out labor now receives a major portion of the income from pottery manufacturers and it is virtually impossible to reduce expenditures for other items.

"The main part of any reduction would necessarily have to come from labor," he told the committee. "We don't want to be put in a position of doing this. But tariff reductions may make it unavoidable."

Urge No Tariff Cuts

"I would urge," he added, "that you recommend no reductions in pottery tariffs for the reason any industry which now has to compete for from 40 to 45 per cent of the domestic market already enjoys little enough protection."

Spokesman for other pottery companies testifying before the committee flatly predicted reductions in pottery tariff rates would force many out of business. It was testified that since 1920, more than 42 per cent of all American pottery firms had gone out of operation because of difficulties faced by the industry.

Following a brief hearing Chairman Minton (D., Indiana), indicated strongly that the senate lobby committee's next move will be to consider whether Rumely's refusal to comply with the committee's request constitutes contempt of the senate.

"Does this mean contempt of the senate?" Minton was asked.

"In my judgment it does," Minton replied.

CATHEDRAL CHAPTER MEETING IMPRESSIVE

The induction of a new corps of officers of the chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star is always impressive, and particularly impressive was the installation ceremony of Cathedral chapter, No. 440, last evening when Mrs. Sadie McCreey retired as worthy matron and Mrs. Evelyn Goodwin succeeded her.

With last evening's installation Cathedral chapter entered upon its 10th year of service. Activities took place in the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Following the serving, members and guests retired to the east lodge room for their installation ceremony.

Mrs. Olive Hewitt was assisted by the following past matrons: Mrs. Lillian Templeton, Miss Mildred Updegraff, Mrs. Edith DeArment and Mrs. Emma Leslie. Past Matron Mrs. Edna West sent greetings and gifts from the southlands, where she is sojourning. Gifts were sent to both matrons and Mrs. Kathryn West, who was installed as chaplain.

A lovely gift from the choir was given to Mrs. McCreey by Mrs. Margaret Thomas in original verse. Mrs. Helen Stone Ramsey, constituting deputy of the chapter, was a special guest.

Mexicans Have Demonstration

Hundred Thousand Parade In Capital, In Approval Of Oil Seizures

By ARTHUR CONSTANTINE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, March 23.—While thousands kept off the streets, 100,000 cheering Mexicans today paraded through the capital demonstrating their approval of President Lázaro Cárdenas' expropriation of the Anglo-American petroleum industry.

President Cárdenas reviewed the unprecedented display of nationalism from the balcony of the national palace.

The throng carried red and red-and-black flags and banners proclaiming "Mexico for the Mexicans" and "Long live the independence of Mexico."

All schools, business and transportation ceased operating. From one end of the country to the other there was a complete suspension of commercial and industrial activity.

Army Supply Bill Reported To House

Increased Fund Is Recommended—Plans For Defense Expansion

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The administration's rearmament program was advanced on a new front today when the House Appropriations committee favorably reported a $447,808,555 army supply bill, the largest since 1921.

The fund is $32,545,401 above last year, although the committee slashed total presidential budget estimates $5,480,260.

The measure provides the first actual money to carry on the national defense expansion program outlined by President Roosevelt in the message in which he urged both a 20 per cent increase in the army and navy.

A total of $18,680,000 asked by Mr. Roosevelt in his special message for anti-aircraft material, $2,000,000 to build up ammunition reserves and $6,080,000 for dies, jigs and other aids in manufacture of war materials.

The committee's report disclosed adoption of a new mobilization plan in the event of war, designed primarily to throw an army of 400,000 in the field, which would be increased to 1,000,000 men in a very short time.

War-reserve requirements, including planes, guns, ammunition and other implements of war, will be provided for on this basis, the committee said.

Hunters' guns took 30,000 of 100,000 buck deer available in Texas. And the state's game supply still grows.

Court Gets Case After Aged Man Tells Of Attack

After an 82-year-old Volant R. F. D. 2 man had told from the witness chair last night how a neighbor had short time ago severely abused him in an alleged assault while he walked on his own property, Alderman Wallace J. Ewing ordered the case bound over for the June term of court.

The elderly witness was Charles Smith, whose son, Dewey K. Smith, has charged Edward Holmes, also of Volant, R. F. D. 2, with aggravated assault and battery. A Leesburg physician took the stand to tell of treating Mr. Smith's injuries.

The defendant, Mr. Holmes, posted bail of $1,000 after the hearing and was released.

Building Permits Show Increase Here

Due to spring having arrived, building has increased here, according to reports at the bureau of building at the city engineer's office.

The permits granted by city officials are as follows:

William Figuly, 3 West Moody avenue; garage.
Warren McMillen, rear 833 Franklin avenue; garage.
Paul Schwartz, 232 East Washington street; remodel storehouse.
Howard W. Shira, 15 West Edison avenue; garage.
Pasquale Napodano, 111 North Lee avenue; garage.
Corn M. Dixon, 9 East Leasure avenue; remodel dwelling.

City Projects Are Under Way

"Our spring and summer improvement projects have started," said City Engineer Glenn R. Throop today.

The engineer said a large force of men is at work in Park avenue which will be paved between Blaine and North Mercer streets.

He also stated that construction of the North Mercer street-Euclid avenue storm sewer is also under way.

"When will men be placed at work on other projects?" he was asked. "That all depends upon the weather," said Throop.

Legion Band To Present Concert

As a gesture of appreciation for many courtesies extended them, the Junior band of the American Legion, national champions in their class, will present a free concert on the night of March 30 in the senior high school auditorium.

There will be no admission charged, neither will there be any collections taken. The concert is open to the public without expense.

Stroll In South Side Convinces Reporter Spring Is Really Here

"Operator, 4000 please!" "Hell, chief, this is me. Its here, make no mistake. What? Spring, what did you think I meant?" "In the Slabtown district, here, the folks are doing everything to indicate spring is here for good. Throughout south side alleys, dozens of kids are playing marbles. The hillsides are packed with youngsters flying kites, most of them home-made numbers. The sight of a husky woman pounding away at a huge rug is now commonplace. As far as kids of the south side are concerned, the baseball season is here way ahead of time. Any old lot will do, as long as the kids can blast the pill out a piece. On the corner of Division and South Mill streets, a hotly contested baseball game is in progress, and boys talk about the excitement. The stove leaguers have crawled out of their holes and are rooting lustily.

"Big Run creek? Its drawing its share of attention. A few lads are trying their luck along the run. Even a barefoot chap was spotted along the Pennsylvania fishing den. And yes, hikers, followed by their pet dogs, are numerous for this time of the year.

"Over the hill to Gaston park, and chief, there is plenty of action in this beautiful resort. The kids are running wild and the trees seem to laugh as if in a mood of approval. Even elderly men have come out far to grab their summer posts under the shade of one of the mammoth trees.

"Along Arlington avenue we stroll and note a 'scissors grinder' poking along in union with his small bell. Ever the ice ball man is out bright and early this year.

"So you see, chief, wherever you go, its spring. Its in the air and one can even smell it."

'Play Must Go On' And So Must Thespians' Dog Hunt

Did you ever assign yourself—if you haven't, don't—to the task of finding a "St. Bernard dog in New Castle?"

The Provincial Players, New Castle's industrious new dramatic group, want one in the worst way and for days their properties committee chairman, Miss Unitha J. Stack, has been leading an honest-to-goodness dog hunt. Today it kept up.

"We'll find one, or else," play coach James J. Sotus, Jr., flatly boasted. "We must."

But still no St. Bernard. The big St. Bernard, one of those friendly dogs associated with life in the snowy Swiss Alps, is needed as part of the "properties" for the three-act comedy, "The Milky Way" the players are presenting in their new East Side playhouse the nights of April 5, 6 and 7.

The same. One felt they were being watched all the time, no American or English newspapers were available, being barred, and all mail is censored.

On the day Hitler made his famous three hour speech, Mrs. Crawford was in Germany. It was obligatory for every German to go to some place where there was a radio and listen to the speech. Business in taverns was at a standstill while the speech was going on, hotels were forbidden to register or check out. Guests and Hitler had a large radio audience, most of it compulsory.

Women are being used for manual labor in Germany at the present time, so many of the men are in the army. German cities are clean and neat. Mrs. Crawford said, and the people are apparently busy.

Austria Resigned
In Vienna Mrs. Crawford found a city intense and under strain. She was in the city on the day Schuschnigg resigned but said the news seemed to cause less excitement than one would imagine. The Austrian people were apparently resigned to being taken over by Germany and many of them seemed pleased at the prospect.

From Austria Mrs. Crawford went into Italy and found this country much quieter than the previous two. The Italian cities have a prosperous look she said and the people seemed busy. In Italy she visited Venice, Rome, Florence, and Milan. From Italy she went into Switzerland and was thoroughly thrilled at the beauty of the Alps as seen from the St. Gotthard Pass. In Lucerne she arrived the day of a national feast and the city was in holiday attire. Flairs, picturesque costumes, and a general carnival air made a pleasing sight.

From Switzerland back to London where she met Dr. Crawford and they crossed the channel into France. Several days in Paris were enjoyed and finally they left for home aboard the Queen Mary.

It was a memorable trip but for all its thrills they are more certain than ever that they'll take the United States in preference to any of the other countries.

Hints On Etiquette
As soon as a young man and woman definitely have decided to marry, they should ask the approval of the woman's parents.

DR. MRS. CRAWFORD GET FIRST HAND VIEW OF HISTORY

York Bay on the Queen Mary Monday morning. Aboard the same boat were some 300 refugees from Austria who were fleeing the wrath of Adolf Hitler and his minions.

Leaving New York City aboard the "Samaria" on December 31, 1937 Dr. and Mrs. Crawford landed at Cobh, Ireland, stopping overnight in Cork, they left for Dublin the next day. Dr. Crawford was in Dublin until March 8. Mrs. Crawford left there after about ten days on a trip over the continent, meeting Dr. Crawford in London early this month.

In Ireland they visited the Giant's Causeway, kissed the Blarney Stone, and saw much of the Emerald Isle. They were treated courteously in Ireland as they were in all of the British Isles.

Leaving Dublin Mrs. Crawford visited Scotland and spent a day on the English coast, leaving the British Isles she first went to Belgium. Here she found a contented, happy people, seemingly far away from the turmoil in other countries and apparently a long way from the day when the Germans devastated the country.

Into Holland
From Brussels Mrs. Crawford went to Amsterdam and found the nation of dikes most interesting. The famous old windmills she found are rapidly disappearing in favor of electrically driven pumps, and the Zuider Zee is gradually being filled in. In Edam she visited some of the cheese factories. For the most part the factories are situated in homes, the home, the stable and the cheese factory being all under one roof. In one of the Edam homes she was invited in and found the rooms scrupulously clean. Every inch of space in the homes is utilized and in the bedrooms they have a tier arrangement. The parents sleep in a high, poster bed, the youngsters sleep in trundle beds which fit under the bed and the real small children sleep in hammocks. Both the Belgians and Dutch people impressed Mrs. Crawford with their kindness and their courtesy to a stranger.

She arrived in Amsterdam when the celebration was starting over the birth of a princess to Prince Bernhard and Princess Juliana. Shop windows were gaily decorated with crests, toys and trundle beds, orange streamers could be seen everywhere and the people gave themselves up to having a good time.

Into Germany
From Holland she went into Germany and found an entirely different atmosphere. Uniforms everywhere, crisp salutes, Heil Hitlers, and a very evident preparation for trouble. In Cologne, in Munich, in Oberammergau, in Garmisch it was

Orders Swastikas To Be Taken Out Of Big Smokestack

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 23.—Removal of two swastikas built into the 335-foot smokestack of the New York hospital powerhouse was ordered today by the board of directors of the institution.

Swastika complaints about the swastikas have been received, although they were built into the stack before Hitler came to power in Germany and adopted the swastika as the official Nazi emblem.

The swastikas are near the top of the tall hospital chimney and one faces east and the other faces west. They are of dark bricks that stand out against the nearly white bricks of the rest of the chimney.

Henry R. Shipley of Boston, architect of the hospital, revealed the swastikas had been placed in the stack merely to break the monotony of the expanse of brick and had no special significance.

GIRL SCOUTS

TROOP 11

The girl scouts of the Sakakawa Troop entertained their parents and friends at a very delightful program Wednesday evening, at 7:30, in the Rhodes Mission.

The entire Troop with the Lieutenant were invested as Girl Scouts by the Captain Clara Cartwright.

The service opened with the girls coming from their patrol corners into the Horse Shoe formation while singing the hymn of scouting.

The colors were introduced at this time and the pledge to the flag repeated. Color Bearers were Bernice Edie, color guards were Janet Rose and Dorothy Rogers. The following girls were invested: Betty Finnegan, Janet Rose, Luella Badger, Dorothy Rogers, Laurene Heckathorn, Joan Withers, Caroline Caffro, Margaret Grant, Betty Lou Anderson, Elda Mason, Jean Braymer, Bernice Edie, Jean St. Clair, Elinor Pettit and Wanda Book, the lieutenant.

The colors were retired at this point and the girls sang a number of scout songs.

A puppet show called the Farmer's Daughters, was acted out by the smaller girls of the Troop.

Dawn Cartwright accompanied by Mrs. S. J. Callahan at the piano, played the following tenor banjo selections: The Booster, Artistic Polka, Missoid Waltz and Gypsy Love Song and The Me to Your Apron Strings.

The girls then demonstrated some lively folk dances. Turn the Glasses over, Early American, Shoo Fly, from the Civil War period and Hooray, Little Lassie, a Swedish folk dance.

Miss Regina Popp and Mrs. C. M. England were special guests, each gave a short interesting talk on Day camp and the coming cookie sale.

This closed the scout service. The remainder of the evening was in charge of the troop committee composed of Mrs. H. E. Grant, Mrs. Arthur Braymer, Mrs. Ernest Withers, Mrs. Carl Anderson and Mrs. E. E. Douglas, who served the delicious refreshments and conducted the social part that followed.

Troop 11 is fairly launched now and the girls are looking forward to beginning their second class work with great enthusiasm.

The next meeting will open with a short hike, followed by election of patrol leaders. A motorcade to some point of interest will be decided on, at this meeting.

Scribe, Luella Badger.

NOTICE!

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Jackie Cooper in "Boy of the Streets" splendidly maintains his famous reputation for stealing the show. This time, though, in a very different way. As "Chuck," the boy of the streets, he plays the stellar part in a manner that will immensely please his millions of fan followers. There is no doubt but what Jackie Cooper has won new honors—a star in his own right, able not only to steal but to carry the show like a masterful leading man. A distinguished supporting cast supplies a background of New York's East Side tenement life in which pride and ambition once again come to close grips with poverty and crime. But the presentation always restrained, is relieved often, too, by humorous characterization that softens the hard, cruel blows of sudden disaster. Scene and situation may be "the same old story" but in this instance so superb is the acting, "Boy of the Streets" is as bright and new as money freshly coined, and, as entertainment, equally desirable.

Old Folks Will Be Urged To Go To Sunday School

Next Sunday Is Old Folks Day In Diamond Jubilee Increase Campaign

Next Sunday, March 27, will be "Old Folks" Day in the Diamond Jubilee increase campaign being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, and provision will be made by the 35 participating Sunday schools to have as many of the elderly members present as possible.

The Primitive Methodist Sunday school has a plan which is a good one. They are having the members of their church located geographically and when one member in a certain part of town is not present, they notify a member living nearby to call on him and see that he is present the next Sunday. This works a double benefit, for when a man makes himself responsible for the attendance of another member, he must be present himself. This plan was worked out by the Sunday school teachers and G. L. Ashton is superintendent.

Not only are the Sunday school and church attendance phases stressed, but the evangelistic phase will have an important part in the church and Sunday school programs between now and Easter. To promote the fourth goal, increase in Bible Study, a Bible study leadership training school will be announced later to follow Easter.

Wants Out Of Jail To Take Care Of His Tulip Beds

International News Service

HARRISBURG, March 23.—When a man starts to worry about his plants and flowers, spring can't be far away. But when a prisoner in Dauphin county jail starts to worry, it's a pretty good sign that spring has already arrived.

Lee W. Barr, serving a six to twelve month sentence for coal larceny, wants the court to parole him so that he can get out and take care of more than 700 tulip plants he planted for the Easter trade.

In his petition, Barr said the tulips need care now if they are to be sold at Easter. He also stated that he has other plants and trees that need his attention.

BUY SURPLUSES

HARRISBURG, March 23.—J. Hansell French, state secretary of agriculture, announced today that the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation has purchased 1,200,000 pounds or 10,448 tubs of 92 score butter on the New York and Chicago mercantile exchanges and is prepared to purchase surplus eggs if they drop or if the normal seasonal advance fails to materialize.

OHIO TOWN AGAINST SQUAWKS IN STREET

A group of very beautiful wall pictures were this week presented to the public library from the Greer estate by Millard Greer, son of Charles Greer.

The pictures will find places on the walls of the new library home, corner of North-Mercer and North streets within a short time.

Included in the group are some very beautiful colored pictures, nicely framed and mounted. The pictures will add greatly to the attractiveness of the library.

"To let the air out of a bicycle tire may be considered to be a trivial trespass," said Judge Shanahan. "To let the air out of an automobile tire might or might not be so regarded."

"But to let the air out of the tires of commercial trucks, which contain heavy loads at the time," the judge continued, "cannot be regarded as a trivial matter."

"It is a direct physical blow at the integrity of the tubes by depriving them of air, then supporting them," said Judge Shanahan. "Substantial damage to the trucks is a natural and expectable consequence."

Lumber Raft Resumes Trip Down River To Harrisburg

Expect Journey To End Thursday

Coroner's Jury At Muncy Fails To Fix Blame For Tragedy At That Place

TESTIMONY IN CASE CONFLICTS

(International News Service)
MUNCY, Pa., March 23.—Tragedy in its wake, Pennsylvania's "last raft" drifted with a new crew today toward Harrisburg and completion of its 200-mile historic voyage from the western headwaters of the Susquehanna river.
And as the ill-fated craft tied up for the night at Wausettown, six miles downstream, a coroner's jury declined to fix responsibility for the raft's crash here Sunday in which seven lives were lost.
The inquest, called by Dr. Thomas C. Brandon, Lycoming county coroner, heard conflicting testimony from passengers and crew on why the raft had smashed into a railroad bridge pier. Dr. Brandon held his witnesses to determine formally why W. C. Van Snerve, of Philadelphia, met his death. His body alone was recovered.
Too Many Pilots
Edwin Sutherland, 78-year-old rear

oarsman on the raft Sunday, declared there were "too many pilots on board." Others who had been on board the raft told the coroner's jury the river's swift current had thrown the 122-foot craft against the pier, spilling its 48 passengers into the river.
"I think they were all trying for a span of their own," said Sutherland. "I never heard of a raft where there was more than one pilot."
Sutherland declared he was ordered to head first for the third span of the bridge, then the fourth, and finally the fifth—just as he had the raft "straightened out for the fourth."
"When I got orders to head for the fourth span I got her straightened up and we would have dropped right through all right if they'd left it alone."

One False Start
One false "start" marked resumption of the raft's strange trip from Belnap, Clearfield county, to the state capital. The craft, managed by John B. Myers, pilot and steward, was steered by the current, by state motor police who did not know permission for the trip had been granted by Dr. Brandon.
A state motor police airplane, cruising overhead in the search for missing bodies, noticed the raft's departure and radioed police on the ground. Police gave chase in power boats, overtaking the raft near the Muncy dam. Upon confirmation of the coroner's approval, the raft with its five new passengers, was allowed to continue.
If all goes well the raft was expected to reach Harrisburg sometime late Thursday.

Pupils At White School Are Busy

Yesterday was one of those days that might encourage a scholar to play "hooky," but notwithstanding that, the desks were nearly all occupied with scholars at the White school house, on West Washington street, extension, near Moore avenue.
One of the exercises at school was a group of children were being rehearsed to take part in a play to be put on soon.
Sitting on the "counter" of the toy store, the "News" man saw "Charlie McCarthy," with thumb pointing back to the goods being displayed. There was also a cash register and "money" and toy telephone.
Later there was an inspection as to the cleanliness of the hands and teeth of the scholars and some advice from the teacher.
Some of the larger children made pictures of "signs of spring" and there were pictures of a robin, the sun, blue sky, birds and flowers, girl jumping rope, clothes hanging out on the line, instead of in the house. Just before recess, the milkman came, and there was a show of hands for sixteen half pints of milk and chocolate milk for the scholars.

Girl Finds $740 At Lock Haven

(International News Service)
LOCK HAVEN, March 23.—All that glitters may not be gold and anything one finds on the street may not always be cash, but it's not a bad idea to pick up a package that looks like "play money."
Loretta Filling, 14, found a wad of what she believed to be "play money" wrapped in an old tax receipt, lying on the sidewalk near her home here, and on turning it over to her step-mother, Mrs. William J. Mauck, the wad turned out to be $740 in currency.
Inquiry led to the identification of the bills by Mrs. Esther Wise. She said she believed there had been $750 on the roll and it is believed several of the outer bills may have become loosened and fallen at another spot, where they were found by others.
Miss Filling's reward—$20 and an entire spring wardrobe.

Old fashioned revival meetings started last night in Pulaski at a store room on Main street. The room was taxed to capacity for the opening message which was brought by the Rev. V. T. Rev. Paul Petini And Quartet Are Bringing Crowds

"What Is Religion?" is to be Rev. Paul Petini's subject tonight in the two weeks revival campaign being conducted in the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street. Also at tonight's service the Negro male quartet will sing as one of their numbers "If You Don't Want to Get in Trouble."
Last night Evangelist Petini dwelt on the subject of sanctification as presented by the Apostle Paul in 1 Thessalonians 5:23 which reads "The Very God of Peace Sanctify You Wholly." He compared Paul's theory of evolution. Last night's capacity crowd also enjoyed the Negro spirituals which are being rendered with such deep meaning by the quartet.
The service will continue every night this week at 7:30 with the exception of Saturday night which is rest night for the evangelistic party.

Margiotti May Bolt Democrats

Attorney General Also Disclaims Responsibility For Legislation In 1937

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, March 23.—Democratic party chieftains today had a thinly veiled warning from Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti that he is prepared to join forces with the opposing party if necessary in his fight against "boss rule."

And at the same time, the attorney general in a radio speech once again disclaimed responsibility for drafting legislation in the 1937 assembly which has been overruled by the state supreme courts. He reiterated charges which incurred the displeasure of Gov. George H. Earle previously, that the work of drafting these bills was taken from him and given to other cabinet members.

"I vigorously protested," Margiotti said. "I warned it would result in chaos. It has."

Hinting that he might take the same course of action as in 1934 when, after losing the battle for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, he switched allegiance to the Democrats, Margiotti said:

"In 1934, I made an independent fight against boss rule. Mr. friends and I played a major part in that Democratic victory. Today we are waging the same fight."

OF COURSE AUTOMATIC Electric COOKING IS EASIER!

Why? Because it's...

FAST... New high-speed cooking units reach full heat quickly. They cook foods as fast as foods can be cooked. And you spend so much less time in the kitchen getting your meals.

AUTOMATIC... Convenient timers and automatic controls start, stop and regulate cooking operations. Accurately maintained electric heat assures perfect cooking—no watching, no worrying. You can place a whole meal in the oven and then go out for the day. When you get home your dinner will be piping hot, ready to serve.

CLEAN... Keeps pots and pans sparkling like new. The range itself is as easy to clean as a china plate.

COOL... The kitchen stays cool. Completely insulated oven, top and bottom, as well as all four sides, keeps heat where it belongs... inside the oven. Cooks the food—not the cook.

CHEAP... Electric cooking is economical—averages as low as a penny a meal, per person. Consider the many advantages of electric cooking. You'd be glad to pay a lot more for the hours of freedom it gives you—but it really costs so little you'll find cooking with electricity actually cheap!

Two Semi-Final Games In Tourney Tonight

Keystone Quintet To Battle Gersons, Castles vs Epworth

Winners Of Games Tonight Will Meet Next Monday For Championship

W. P. A. And Saxons In Consolation Game Tonight: First Game At 7 O'Clock

Two fast semi-final games are on the program tonight at George Washington Junior High in the City-County basketball championship tournament. In the first game the Castles will meet the Epworth M. E. team, and in the second game the Keystone A. C. will battle the Gersons. The first game will start at 7 o'clock.

The consolation game will find the W. P. A. team pitted against the fast New Castle Saxons.

Epworth Favorites.

Epworth M. E. having topped the night's previous games, are of course the favorites to take the measure of "Ducky" Guinagh and his Castles. But on the other hand, the Union township boys may have a thing or two to say about the result and if this youngster Bill King gets loose, it is certain. He is a sweet ball player and so is Guinagh. Domenico "Jap" Covali, former New Castle high star, is helping the Castles quite a bit with his experience and coolness under fire.

The Epworths will bank on Bus Davis, Nahas and Jimmy Dart to pull them through, also Kennedy and Wainio, the latter is one of the best ball players in the tourney. Epworth cannot underestimate this Castle team. The underdog generally puts up a great fight, so the Castles can be expected to do that very thing. This will be the opening game on the night's card.

Keystones Vs Gersons.

Coach Andy "Coots" Venditto has the Keystone A. C. team in the best of shape for their semi-final pout with the Gerson Jewellers in the second game.

The Keys had to upset the East Brook A. A. and W. P. A. teams to get to the semi-finals. The Gersons had to trim the N. Y. A. and Universals to reach the semi-finals. Strange as it seems, there is no outstanding favorite in the game. The Keys realize that they are going up against a strong team in the Gersons, for the simple reason the Jewellers lineup is dotted with former high school stars, such as Carey, Dutkin, Strausbaugh, Carey and Hordig. Of course, the Keys have Adams, Morrison, Nocera and Cooper of high school fame.

Should Be Fine Game.

The Gerson-Gersons game will be a crackerjack affair. It is a natural. The players are friendly enemies on the court. Nocera and Adams will

Kentucky Derby Crowd Will Break Record Is Report

Six Weeks In Advance And Every Ticket Is Sold, Look For 70,000

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, March 23.—Possibly all due to the fact that everybody worked his way up to insolvency nine years ago and then went into a relapse. It must be, in fact, that we just have no money at all and naturally we're spending it. Anyhow, the Kentucky Derby, as I'm beginning to understand the situation today, has only been able to sell itself practically out six weeks in advance, which is very disheartening.

I can well understand how the uncertainty of the whole thing must have had the management almost unnerved. They're meaning the management, haven't the slightest idea right now how they'll be able to produce a pair of box, price $11 each for the convenience of the masses, for the friend of a friend who is willing to accept the Whitneys on terms of equality, at least for the day. Probably the management will have to go out somewhere and buy them back.

The writer, for instance, wired out there yesterday for a couple of reserved seats and is still waiting to learn something to his advantage. He'd hate to go the rest of his waiting in a dentist's chair.

All of the box seats are naturally gone. They're always wiped out early by the eyebrow set and the seats in question number no less than 17,000. The reserved sections, numbering 10,000, may or may not be gone, too, either way, you wouldn't even be able to set up light housekeeping with the proceeds from what may be left.

Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., and Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., advance of favorites in first round of Augusta, Ga., women's golf tourney.

Castles-Gersons Win In Tourney

Castles Enter Semi-Finals By Beating Universals 30 To 26; King Stars

Gerson Jewellers Defeat N. Y. A. Team 29 To 24; Toscano Stars

The Castles and Gersons advanced to the semi-finals of the City-County basketball tourney last night at George Washington Junior High. The Castles took the measure of the Universals in a hard fought battle 30 to 26, and the Gersons bested the N. Y. A. team 29 to 24 in a sizzler of a game.

King-Guinagh Stars

The first game between the Castles and Universals saw Bill King go after high scoring honors with 11 points while little "Domie" Covelli kicked in with eight points. Guinagh played a great game at guard, and scored four of the points. The Universals led at the first period 8 to 7, and at the half the Castles had shot out in front 16 to 11. The end of the third period saw the Universals led by "Curley" Miller go into the lead at 20 to 18.

In the fourth and final period the Castles led by King and Covelli really turned on the heat and let the Universals have it. The Universals were outscored 12 to 6 in the final session. Miller, Thompson and Patterson were the best in the lineup of the Universals.

Gersons Advance

The Gersons Jewellers basketball team coached by Mike Kulich had the time of their lives last night to upset the N. Y. A. team and knock them out of the tourney. The score after four bitter fought periods was 29 to 24. The N. Y. A. men coached by John Rubels shot into 7 to 4 lead at the very outset of the game.

At the half the N. Y. A. quintet led by the score of 11 to 6. Coach Kulich gave the Gersons a good talking to down the half, because they came back on the floor to take the lead at 16 to 15 as the third period closed and then led by veteran Edgie "Bus" Strausbaugh who shot five fouls and made a pair of buckets, went into a comfortable lead and toward the end of the game the N. Y. A. boys hacked it down to five points.

Harry Toscano was the big gun for the N. Y. A. team with 12 of the points. Nickie Ross had 10 of the N. Y. A. points. For the Gersons the playing of Strausbaugh, Dutkin, and Carey was good.

Ellwood Shelby Wins

In the third game a consolation match, the Ellwood City Shelby Tube team defeated the K. Pulaski Big Five by the count of 39 to 21. The Shelby led at the half 22 to 7. Scoring stars were—Blanco, Barnes with 14 points, and Gottusco. For the Oaklanders the playing of "Beans" Balin, Smith and Wolowitz was the best.

Have Different Views On Yanks As Flag Winners

Clark Griffith Says "Yanks New Team Will Not Hold Up"; Doyle Says "Yes"

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, March 23.—They call one "The Old Fox" and the other "The Sage of Broadway" and, in considering who they have to offer for public opinion today, the writer is impressed with the idea that we must be getting a little careless with our accolades. The Fox, Mr. Clark Griffith, of the Washington Senators, says the New York Yankees are due to fritter away the American League pennant this year. He even mutters something rather bewildering about the second division.

The sage, otherwise Mr. Jack Doyle, quotes the Yankees at 1-2 in his betting book and both, at least at this immature moment, are wrong in two entirely different directions. At that point, Mr. Doyle either holds the Yanks too highly or he just doesn't want to handle any Yankee money.

Too Many Stars

Personally, I don't want to say that the club can't lose, only that it probably won't. It has so many ball players that it must be good ones on the bench. It has an embarrassment of riches. It can lose practically anybody, except Gehrig, over a considerable period of time and go right on just as though nothing had happened. And the party the Yankees probably can't do without happens to be the one who makes this unnecessary. Gehrig having played every game since he first entered a major league line-up thirteen years ago.

Meaning, the outfield is so well covered that Jake Bowry, leading man of the 1936 World Series, figures to spend his summer in the dugout, wearing a half-sleeve in the bosom of his pants, and Ernie Koy, a three-year recruit, will have to go elsewhere, probably winding up in the National League. Selkirk, Hogg and Tom Henrich is the current combination and it's strictly high grade, so much so, in fact, that the Yankees can afford to open the season without Gehrig ($30,000 or no count), Di Maggio. They have, anyhow, for the last two years.

Lazzeri Missing

Dahlgren, as a replacement, can play any base in the infield. Knickerbocker, another stand-in, can play too. The club has two 20-game winners in Gomez and Ruffing, who held the Cardinals to a three hit shutout yesterday, and a first class pitcher in Monte Pearson. Dickey is the best all-around catcher in baseball, with sound understandings.

If there's the slightest question about the club it concerns itself with Joe Gordon, who's scheduled to replace Lazzeri at second base, and there's two things in favor of this. The other is that Lazzeri couldn't have played second base this year anyhow. As for Gordon, he has hit 300 in two times at bat in exhibition games so far and, like Crosetti, when he does hit one, the ball leaves the park.

In fewer words and taking into consideration the margin of human error and frailty, the only sure way to beat the outfit is the one nobody's thought of yet. They haven't tried a horsewhip.

5000 Rabbits Taken To Hunting Grounds

HARRISBURG, March 23.—Over 5,000 native rabbits have been removed from the grounds of State institutions, schools, private property, etc., and restocked since January first, Richard Grestell, Chief of the Division of Game Research and Distribution of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, announced today.

As these grounds were closed to all hunting, they had become so well populated with rabbits that considerable damage was being done to the decorative plantings around the buildings and nearby gardens.

To control this the Game Commission, assisted by local sportsmen, drove the rabbits into nets and captured them. They were then released in the same county, near good food and cover, on public hunting grounds.

MICKEY CAN'T RESIST OLD URGE

Cochrane takes his cut

Boss Mickey Cochrane of the Tigers isn't supposed to play ball because of a skull fracture he suffered last summer when he was hit by a fast pitch, but he finds the old urge too strong to resist. So he steps up to the plate and takes his old cut at the apple in the Tiger training camp at Lakeland, Fla.

Rambling Around In Local Sports World

Pickings in sports land...New York City's indoor sports program this winter reached the $2,000,000 mark...12 battles in Madison Square Garden hit the $500,000 returns while 65,000 paid $125,000 to see Glenn Cunningham and other stars burn up the boards in five weeks...pre-season odds in the Major League Yankees 4 to 5 to repeat in the American...Giants and Cubs co-choices at 9 to 5 in the National...the St. Louis Cards are a 3 to 1 bet...recently, Columbia University's basketball team scored 18 points before Cornell could get one...Arkansas State Teachers college football team will travel approximately 7,500 miles next grid season...only 700 pupils are enrolled in the institution...one of the treks will be to "airplane"....

From a reader...came a note today which read: saw in your sports page a resume about a number of former athletes...the name of George Perrotta, one of the sweetest fighters in the history of New Castle, was missing...how about a few pick-ups about George? despite the fact that Perrotta has been away from the ring about eight years, he appears physically fit...in the annals of boxing, Perrotta is listed as one of the hardest punchers of his time...he fought from 1921 to 1930, participating in about 300 bouts...Perrotta won almost half of his bouts by knockouts and once ran up a string of 21 consecutive victories via the "sleep producing" system...some of the outstanding gladiators he fought included: Phil Kutz, Harry Fay, Victor Witz, French middleweight champion, Harry Fidler and dozens of others...he was knocked out about three times...he fought in the 160 pound class...he was a crowd pleaser and a wonderful personality....

No. 13 holds no terror...throughout the world of sports, superstitious athletes are plentiful...Temple University basketball team proved that this "No. 13" jinx business is taboo...during the Madison Square Garden tournament recently, Temple brought 13 players to town...the squad left Philadelphia on track 13...their rooms were on the 13th floor...the first hat check received by Coach Ullrich bore the number 13...and yet, despite this, Temple won the tournament....

Did you know that...plans are now underway for the new Nuremberg stadium, calling for a seating capacity of 400,000 making it the largest in the world...Gothic Sea-bury, of the Yale hockey team, stands 6 feet 8 inches when he dons his skates...professional football last fall attracted the attention of about 1,176,000 paid admissions in the National League cities...the University of California baseball team in addition to its regular schedule will play 19 leading college sandlot aggregations this spring on a barnstorming trip which will take the Bears to the east coast and back...it is reported that Henry Armstrong, kayo artist, is completing payment on an annuity, which will net him about $800 per month for the rest of his life...government figures revealed these salaries for 1936...Mickey Cochrane, $45,000, Bill Terry $30,000 and Joe McCarthy $27,500...Hollywood has proclaimed Columbia Lou Gehrig, a successful actor...Gus Dorais, Director U. grid pilot, will conduct a grid school in Elm, Pa. in June...Maxie Baer, defeated Tommy Farn recently, he did not know that his daddy had been in a hospital for nearly two weeks...that was the reason Maxie hobnobbed it to the coast immediately following the scrap....

More oddities in baseball...in 1904 a world series was not held for one of the strangest reasons in baseball...the New York Nationals were supposed to play the best Sox combination...the New Yorkers refused to play because they claimed the Americans was not a major league...wonder if they think the same thing today?....
